Japanese Are Making a Desperate Advance

And Are Driving Back the Russian Defence--Fleet of Togo is Co-operating--Kin Chow Captured and Dalny Will Hardly Resist.

Washington, May 27.—The state department today received official advices of the capture of Kin-Chow by the Japanese from Minister Grison at Tokio. He adds the Japanese are moving on Port Arthur.

London, May 27.—It is believed in military circles here that the next move of the Japanese army on the Liao Tung peninsula will be directed against Dalny. As long as that place remains in the possession of the Russians an attack on Port Arthur is impracticable. The town must be taken from the rear, as little reliance can be placed on the fleet, which is unable to enter the harbor, owing to the elaborate fields of mines strewn there by the Russians.

Hitherto the Japanese have been unable to devote their attention to Dalny for fear the Russians would advance from Kin-Chow and attack them in the rear. Kin-Chow having been taken by the Japanese, this danger no longer exists, and the soldiers can now devote their whole time to Dalny.

New-Chwang, May 27.—The Russians declare that a Japanese battleship has been sunk by a submarine boat and that three craft of this class are now at Port Arthur and another en route to Vladivostok by rail.

Much contraband of war is arriving at this port. The French steamer Bourbon landed 66,000 sacks of flour today.

A British cruiser at Ching Wan Tao is awaiting instructions.

VICE ADMIRAL HACHITTI TOGO, THE JAPANESE NAVAL COMMANDER.

Tung peninsula, while the Japanese land forces have swept the Russians from their defenses west of Dalny in the immediate rear of the port.

DETAILS OF KIN-CHOW'S FALL.

London, May 27.—The Tokio correspondent of the Central News is reporting today the storming and taking of Kin-Chow, 30 miles north of Port Arthur, by the Japanese yesterday. He says the fighting was practically confined to a duel between artillery on both sides. Guns were fired hotly and without intermission for five hours. The fight began at dawn.

Three Japanese warships in Kin-Chow bay co-operated in the attack, firing their heavy guns at the Russian positions. The Russian gunboat in Talien Wan bay tried to draw off some of the fire by attacking the left flank of the Japanese. At 5:20 a. m. the Japanese occupied Kin-Chow castle and are now endeavoring to push the retreating Russians from the southern heights.

PEACE

Would Be Welcome to Russia if Obtained Without Too Much Loss of Prestige

Paris, May 27.—Russia is ready for peace if it can be brought about in such a way as will not cause her too much loss of prestige. This is the news which reaches here from St. Petersburg, and while it cannot be officially verified, it is believed in diplomatic circles.

It is said that Russia realizes fully that if she is to win ultimately, and no doubt is felt on this point by the government at St. Petersburg, it will be at an enormous cost in treasure and men, from which Russia cannot hope to get any adequate return.

It is realized, too, that Russia's prestige in Asia already has suffered and even though in the end victorious, it is bound to suffer more.

Under the circumstances, therefore, it is not regarded as strange that the czar's government would willingly listen to any suggestion properly made which would bring about peace in a way which would enable Russia to save her face.

Just how this can be done is puzzling diplomatists.

I am informed from high sources that the matter of mediation is being considered in more than one of the chancelleries and that it is being done with knowledge and tacit consent of Russia.

It is said the United States may be asked to act as mediator.

IN A DREAM

Miss Unthank Saw Her Brother's Fatal Accident Just As It Occurred Two Weeks Later.

Newcastle, Ind., May 27.—Miss Heston Unthank, one of the popular teachers of Elwood st. schools, says she was foretold of the death of her brother, Clarence, which occurred in this city Tuesday, just two weeks before the accident occurred.

Two weeks ago Monday Miss Unthank thought of her brother all evening. He was in her mind when she retired. During her hours of slumber she saw him high upon a telephone pole adjusting wires. Then he fell to the cement sidewalk below, sustaining injuries which resulted in death.

She told several intimate friends of her nightmare. Last Tuesday morning she received a telegram notifying her of her brother's death and detailing the accident just as pictured in her sleep two weeks previous.

BUYS A NEWSPAPER

Zanesville, O., May 27.—W. M. Miller, of Dresden, formerly owner of the Zanesville Times-Recorder, has purchased the Press-Republic, the leading paper of Springfield. Harry Hollister, of the Times-Recorder, is associated with him in the deal. The gentlemen will move to Springfield at once and take charge. Both are experienced newspaper men and their success of their venture is assured.

MANGLED

BY A STREET CAR IN ZANESVILLE THURSDAY.

Aged Artisan Did Not Hear Car's Approach Until Too Late to Escape.

Zanesville, O., May 27.—Struck by a swift moving street car and injured so horribly that he died two hours later, is the sad fate of Paul Emmert, an aged carpenter who resided at Orchard and Underwood streets. The accident happened about 10 o'clock Thursday morning, near the corner of Elm and Underwood streets.

Emmert, who for some years has been in too feeble state of health to work much at his trade, had left his home but 10 minutes before the catastrophe, and when the members of his family learned of the horrible affair, they went frantic.

Starting to cross the street near Ungemach's grocery, at the corner, Emmert did not notice a rapidly approaching car. The aged artisan was slightly deaf, and this is given as an explanation of the sad occurrence. When the unfortunate man saw the car, it was upon him. He was knocked down by the fender and thrown under the wheels. His body was horribly mangled.

WOMAN

FOR WHOM A WORLD WIDE SEARCH WAS MADE

Is at Her Home in New York and Tells the Story of Her Wanderings.

New York, May 27.—Mrs. Herman Leroy Jones, society woman and wife of the clubman, who disappeared from Morris Park race track on May 16, and for whom a world wide search was made, is at her husband's home today. She was found last night by her husband in a hall bedroom on West Twenty-second street. Her mental condition was such that she failed to recognize her husband. She was taken home and a physician called to attend her. She told the story of her wanderings, though with many lapses of memory. Mrs. Jones said that she determined to escape the constant surveillance kept on her. She went downtown, where she pawned her jewelry. Mrs. Jones wandered to the docks, looking for a steamer to Europe, but finding she had not money enough, took a room in a furnished house, where she slept that night. The next day she took a train for Wilmington, Del. Why she went to Wilmington she said she did not know except she had a consuming desire to lose herself from everybody. In Wilmington she obtained employment on a farm, where she did all sorts of work, except milking. She became weary of the drudgery within a week and returned to this city, where she obtained employment as a governess. She was to have gone to work next Tuesday.

Mr. Jones was informed of his wife's whereabouts by the landlady.

Dodd, Columbus; educational secretary, Rev. John Munroe, Randolph.

The next meeting will be held at Newark, O.

JURY

Now Has Gillespie Case in Hand

JUDGE CONCLUDED CHARGE FRIDAY MORNING

And the Arbiters of His Fate Retire.

MANY GUESSES ON VERDICT.

Excitement Caused at Night Session by Man Who Wanted to Give Bouquet to Defendant.

Rising Sun, Ind., May 27.—During the Thursday night session of the Gillespie murder trial some excitement was caused by the actions of a man who forced his way into the room despite the great crowd. He edged his way to the front while Attorney Spaan was making a scathing denunciation of the defendants, and tried to reach the side of James Gillespie. He had a large bouquet of flowers which he tried to give Gillespie. Marshal Overly saw the man and led him from the court room. Sheriff Rump has been keeping more than ordinary watch over the jail during the past few nights. This precaution has been taken for the reason that a few nights ago a man went up to a jail window and was heard to say in a low tone to Gillespie: "Jim, there are enough of us to get you out of here if you want to go." Gillespie apparently paid no attention to the man. The man is known to the sheriff and he is being watched. There has been some talk here that mob violence will result if the defendants are acquitted. This is scouted at by the best people in the community. They say that the law will take its course and the people will abide by the decision of the jury. The town is ringing with predictions as to a probable verdict. Opinion differs as to how many, if any, of the four defendants will be convicted. The question of how long the jury will be out is also being discussed. Judge Downey concluded his charge at 9:23 and the jury retired to deliberate on its verdict.

CHILD

Said She Couldn't Live Without Her Mother, and the Judge Said She Should Have Her.

Detroit, Mich., May 27.—The fight of Henry A. Welch and his wife for the possession of their seven-year-old foster daughter, Mildred, a feature of which was a thrilling auto race Wednesday in an endeavor by the father to get her from the mother, was settled before Circuit Judge Donovan Thursday by Mildred herself.

The judge decided that Mildred, being so near the age when she could choose her own guardian, should settle the matter and draw the child aside and questioned her.

"I love my papa," said Mildred, "and I love my mamma. My papa could not care for me as my mamma can, and I could not live without her."

"The case is settled," said Judge Donovan, with a business that not away the breath of a child's attorney. "The child shall live with her mother. The child indicated her choice."

Mrs. Welch, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. S. J. Welch, of Washington, then rose to go. A few words were said and tenderly Mrs. Welch kissed her child.

HAD THE COMBINATION.

Youngstown, O., May 27.—Myrtle, surrounded the police of the city of the William Todd company. The robbery was discovered Thursday morning. Inside the safe was found a slip of paper containing the combination to the safe. About $500 had been taken.

DIVERS

AT WORK SEARCHING FOR THE DEAD

Who Lost Their Lives in the Explosion of the Tug, Fred Wilson, Thursday.

Louisville, Ky., May 27.—Divers arrived Friday morning from Cincinnati and are now at work on the sudden rains of the Fred Wilson trying to get out the bodies of the victims. The Mongabehn Coal and Coke company, which owned the boat, is looking after the injured, and has arranged with an undertaker to take charge of the bodies and have them sent to their families. The remains of the second engineer, Sherman Shiller, will be sent to his home in Mt. Clemens, W. Va., this afternoon.

Capt. J. J. Dunn, of the local steamboat inspectors, says he and Captain Abram will make a most rigid investigation. They are waiting to see what the divers can do toward bringing the wreckage to view, so they can examine it. The fragments they found yesterday were not such as to give them any idea as to what caused the explosion. As soon as they have made the most thorough examination possible they will fix a time for examining witnesses.

Gabe Letzich, a deck hand, who was injured, died Friday morning. This makes the number of known dead eleven.

C. A. MOORE

B. & O. ENGINEER, OF NEWARK, JUMPED FROM ENGINE

And Left Leg Was Fractured Above the Knee—Lower Part of Leg Is Artificial.

Special to The Advocate.

Columbus, O., May 27.—B. & O. freight train 137 collided with a light engine on the grade west of Summit Station Friday morning. The crews of both engines jumped, and Engineer C. A. Moore, of Newark, whose lower left leg is artificial, suffered a fracture of the same leg above the knee. Fireman Harrington was also injured. Both men were brought to this city on Pan Handle No. 7 and taken to the Protestant hospital, where it is reported this afternoon that they are doing well.

IMPRESSIVE

Ceremony of Consecration of Newly Elected Bishops Took Place Thursday by M. E. Conference

Los Angeles, May 27.—The Methodist general conference devoted its time Thursday to the election of the general conference officers, including publishing agents, secretaries and assistant secretaries of the various societies.

The following were so far elected: Homer Eaton and G. P. Mains, publishing agents, New York.

H. C. Jennings and R. G. Graham, publishing agents, Cincinnati.

A. B. Leonard, secretary of the missionary society.

J. M. Kinn, secretary of the board of church extension.

M. C. E. Mason and W. B. Therkild, secretaries of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Aid societies.

Robert Forbes, assistant secretary of the Church Extension society.

S. J. Florida was elected editor of the Epworth Herald on the ballot taken before Wednesday and announced Thursday.

Last night at the session the most impressive ceremony in the Methodist annual was performed, the consecration of the newly elected bishops.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 27.—The Presbyterian general assembly here voted this morning in favor of union with the Cumberland church. This is the first time a union has been voted by the Presbyterian church since 1869.

There was much opposition on the part of some of the delegates to the union with the Cumberland church, but the resolution finally went through by a heavy majority vote.

RACE RIOT

Breaks Out Against Jews in Bessarabia

Principal Synagogue Demolished and Desecrated

While Women are Subjected to the Coarsest Indignities--Priests, Workmen, Students and Even Children Were Among the Rioters.

Berlin, May 27.—Details reached here today of an anti-Semitic riot at Chotin, Bessarabia, which in many respects resembles the Jewish massacre at Kishineff last year. According to the report a mob of 3,000 persons composed of Russians, Armenians, Greeks, priests, workmen, students, and even children, suddenly attacked the ghetto. They demolished the interior of the principal synagogue, and desecrated eighteen smaller prayer houses. They then forced an entrance to the Jewish shops and plundered the wares. Finally, they stormed the homes of the Israelites, smashing the doors and windows.

The inmates were maltreated with sticks, their clothes were torn off, and in some cases the nude Jews were knocked and ducked in the Dniester. The women were subjected to the coarsest indignities, while gentle women spat in the face of the rabbi. Over 100 were injured, while many were destitute and homeless. The authorities after a long delay, dispatched mounted gendarmes to the place to quell the riot, and after a stubborn fight, the ghetto was cleared.

The mob as they were driven out, shouted back threats that they would return and kill the Israelites. The Jews are in a panic stricken condition. Learning of the attack some have fled to Austria. A delegate to the German Jew Association has been dispatched to investigate the report and to administer relief where it is needed.

TERROR

REIGNS IN THE SHADOW OF YALE UNIVERSITY.

Many Crimes Against Women Have Been Committed in Aristocratic Prospect Hill

New Haven, Conn., May 27.—A veritable reign of terror has been caused among women of that section of New Haven in which Yale University is situated by the numerous assaults on women, the latest of which occurred on Thursday night.

A meeting of 50 college professors, and all of the wealthy residents of the aristocratic Prospect Hill section was held to compare experiences and try to devise means to end the reign of terror. Statistics of the crimes committed in that part of the city show that they have trebled in two years. Joseph Porter, owner of one of the handsomest residences on Whitney avenue, said that his two servant girls have been accosted 20 times in three months, within sight of their house. The increase in daylight robberies of professor's houses and attempted assaults was three times as large as three years ago.

Requests made by the police to help identify the criminal who has assaulted three women in the vicinity of Prospect Hill the past month have been turned down by everybody.

The woman who was attacked last night cannot be found, and her name was not learned before she slipped away without leaving a clue to her identity.

The Misses Orr, who saw her attacked, have refused to go to the station house to see if they can identify Thomas T. Stewart, the negro arrested early this morning. Mrs. S. H. Stodd, the society woman who saw the negro attack Emily Chandler of Prospect Hill, has refused to go to the station house to see whether Wallace is the same person who assaulted Mrs. Richardson.

Police Chief Wilson said that there was little chance that in Wall Street the police have the right man.

BANK NOTE

WRAPPED AROUND GARTER RETURNED TO PRETTY DANCER.

And It Was Just Such Mad Escapades That Made Haas an Embellisher.

Chicago, May 27.—To give chorus girls good times proved an expensive relaxation for Herman E. Haas, auditor of the Corn Exchange National Bank. Ten days ago he left his office ostensibly to go to lunch and did not return. Investigation revealed an alleged shortage of nearly $20,000, and Haas was arrested Thursday in San Juan Del Rio, Mexico.

Haas's principal duty as Auditor of the bank was to keep check on his fellow employees, and he is said to have been a hard taskmaster.

One of his affairs with young women almost brought him a horsewhipping a month ago. Millie DeLong, a beautiful dancer, armed with a heavy blacksnake whip, created great excitement in the Corn Exchange Bank by her efforts to administer corporal punishment to the Auditor. She stated that Haas has deceived her by keeping her in ignorance of the fact that he had a wife and two children.

Haas became acquainted with Miss DeLong when she was dancing in the Trocadero Theatre some years ago. The climax of her turn on the stage came when she paused in her dance long enough to take off her garters and toss them among the audience. The story goes that on the particular night when Haas first met the dancer he promptly threw one of her garters back upon the stage, and when the fair Miss DeLong picked it up she found wrapped around the silken band a two-cent dollar bill.

Haas' admiration for her later became so great that she was enabled to live in a luxurious suite of rooms at a downtown hotel.

MARIETTA VISITED BY $250,000 FIRE

Marietta, O., May 27.—Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth of property in the town of Marietta was destroyed by fire without warning last night. The fire started in the rear of a building and spread to a dozen buildings in the lower sections of the city. Residents, shops and stores were burned.

FLYER

Of the Dayton Wrights Rose Fifteen Feet and Fell Because Power Was Exhausted.

Dayton, Ohio, May 27.—The first test of the Wright flying machine that has been made since it has been reconstructed in Ohio soil was made Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in a large open field, about six miles east of here, near Simms Station.

The atmospheric conditions were favorable and the machine rose into the air about 15 feet and maintained its flight for a distance of about 25 feet. It then fell to the ground. The reason assigned for the failure to cover more territory was that the power had been exhausted.

In the fall the pine propellers of the rear of the machine were broken, and the experiments will now be abandoned for some time.

The new flyer differs but slightly from the original, and with a little more time the inventors believe they will have the problem of air navigation entirely solved. The Wrights have kept their movements obscured as completely as possible and none but a few of their most intimate friends have known that they were still engaged in perfecting the system at which they have been laboring with characteristic diligence for many years.

OBITUARY

FRED SIEGEL.

Fred Siegel, a charter member of Newark lodge, No. 13, K. of P., and of Minnewa Tribe, No. 52, I. O. O. F., died Thursday afternoon at his home on Velasco street, after several months' illness, with paralysis. He was almost 78 years of age and was one of the best known and highly respected citizens of the city.

He suffered a stroke of paralysis in January and has suffered with the affliction since that time.

He leaves his wife and five children. The latter are as follows: J. J. Siegel, Newark; George, of Zanesville; Fred of Newark; Henry, of Cincinnati; and Mrs. Anna Handshy, of Zanesville.

Mr. Siegel was born in Germany in 1857. He came to this country in 1884, locating in Newark ten years later. He was married to Miss Anna Brooker in 1881. For 25 years he was employed in the paint department of the B. & O. shops as a painter. At one time he engaged in the manufacture of cigars.

He was an original charter member of Newark lodge, No. 13, K. of P., and also of the local tribe of Red Men. He was also a member of the German Lutheran church. He served in the Union army during a portion of the Civil war.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home and will be under the auspices of the K. of P. and I. O. O. F. lodges. Rev. M. Schleifer will officiate. The interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

MRS. ELIZABETH J. MOORE.

Mrs. M. Moore, of 40 East Locust street, received the sad intelligence that his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Moore, a former well-known and highly esteemed woman of this city, had died at the home of her daughter in Altona, Kansas, on Thursday afternoon, from the effects of a paralytic stroke received about two weeks ago. The deceased was the widow of the late Joseph J. Moore, a former prominent resident of Licking township, this county. For the past two years she had been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Dr. Semers, in Altona, Kansas. She was 70 years of age and two daughters survive her death. The remains will be taken to Newark for interment at 10 o'clock. It is not known at this time when the funeral will be held.

COUNTRY YOUTH

In Jail in New Jersey for Selling Stocks That Existed Only in His Mind.

New York, May 27.—Charles L. Murphy, a country youth, was committed to jail at Newark, N. J., yesterday in default of $10,000 bail on a charge of swindling. When arraigned before United States Commissioner Whitehead, Murphy admitted that he had purchased a real order list from a firm that furnished addresses of persons living in rural districts and that he had written to many of these persons asking if they did not wish to purchase stock that would yield "a profit in interest of 10 per cent." He remembered selling P. J. Robb of Salem, O., the complainant against him, $75 worth of "Luna" oil stock, also of selling $50 worth of the same stock to a Captain Cairn of Lima, O. This stock, he admitted, existed only in his imagination. He also sold Western Union Telegraph stock, and "Marconi wireless" stock, his part of the transaction ending on the receipt of the money.

He lived with his parents in a ramshackle cottage in a farming district outside of Berkeley Heights, N. J., and received his mail at Scotch Plains and Fairwood, under the name of James B. Murphy.

Mrs. David Barker met with a painful accident Thursday evening at her home on Elmwood avenue. She was carrying a heavy flower pot down the rear stairs when she slipped and fell. Two ribs were broken and her hips were seriously bruised. Dr. C. E. Leake was sent for and he dressed the injuries.

All Red Men are requested to meet at the hall Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock to attend the funeral of Brother Fred Siegel.

SSS THE BEST TONIC

In S. S. S. Nature has provided a tonic suited to every requirement of the system when in a debilitated, run-down condition. It contains no strong minerals or drugs, but is a pleasant vegetable preparation. You can find no better remedy for toning up the nerves and bringing refreshing, restful sleep.

S. S. S. improves the appetite and digestion, and its good effects are seen almost from the first dose. It acts promptly in cases of chronic dyspepsia, indigestion and all stomach troubles, and does away with the uncomfortable fullness, shortness of breath, drowsiness and dizziness that so often come after eating. S. S. S. is not only the best tonic, but possesses all the purifying properties, and if there is any latent humor or poison in the blood, it searches it out and removes it. Many times a box of S. S. S. is due to a bad condition of the blood and can only be removed by such a remedy as S. S. S.

If you suffer from debility, weakness, insomnia, nervousness, loss of appetite, bad digestion, or any of the miserable symptoms of a disordered blood, nothing will so soon put your blood in good condition, invigorate and tone up the system and restore the health as S. S. S.

Shallow men speak of the past, wise men of the present and fools of the future.—Mme. du Deffaud.

I know the nature of women. When you will, they will not; when you will not, they come of their own accord.—Seneca.
I don't care to meet the man who has never made a mistake, for that infallible individual has likely never made anything else.—H. Malaprop.

"It was almost a miracle. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of a terrible breaking out all over the body. I am very grateful." Miss Julia Filbridge, West Cornwall, Conn.

A Musical Malaprop.

Among such a mass of players as comprise a great orchestra there are "characters" enough to supply a new Dickens. One of these characters, according to the Saturday Evening Post, is noted more for his love of big words than knowledge of their meaning. During Mr. Seidl's lifetime he played in the orchestra at Brighton Beach. One day the tuba player, who sat back of him, had a very difficult part to play in Liszt's symphonic poem, "Mazeppa." Hearing his heartiest sigh of relief on its conclusion, Mr. Malaprop turned and asked, "Barnum had one, hadn't he?"

"What?" was the query.
"A Mazeppa of course," was the answer. He had confounded the hero of Byron with a zebra.

"Do we play this with or without reputation?" he asked one day of a colleague.

Playing in a new theater on tour, the man who sat next him looked up and announced, "The acoustics are bad here."

"Are they?" he said critically, sniffing the air. "I have such a cold that I can't smell. But I take your word for it."

MARYLAND

REFLECTS GORMAN'S VIEWS IN STATE CONVENTION.

Platform Adopted and National Delegates Selected Who Favor the Senator's Nomination.

Baltimore, May 27.—The Democratic state convention of Maryland met in this city yesterday, adopted a platform and elected delegates to the St. Louis convention.

United States Senator Gorman was a delegate from Howard county and his entry into the convention was the signal for enthusiastic applause, as was every remark made by the senator during the proceedings.

The platform adopted by the convention admittedly embodies Mr. Gorman's opinion of what the national platform should be, he being a member of the resolutions committee. It is confined to national issues and especially indorses the line of action followed by the Democratic steering committee during the late session of congress. It calls for moderate tariff revision, independence for the Philippines, economy in expenditures and full investigation of all alleged crookedness in the postoffice and other government departments, and severely criticizes the present administration.

As to the Philippine Islands and the Panama canal the platform contains the following clauses:

"There is no rightful place under our system of constitutional liberty for the conquest, subjugation and government of alien races in remote islands of the sea and for the dangers and evils of colonial and imperial expansion and we pledge ourselves to the adoption of all conservative and practicable measures to rescue the government from the evil consequences of so deplorable a departure from the fundamental principles of the constitution. To this end we demand that, at the earliest possible moment, independence shall be granted to the Philippines, with the same general relationship to this country as that now enjoyed by the people of Cuba.

"The Democratic party has been foremost in advocating the construction of an interoceanic canal for the purpose of national defense and commerce between the states. While accepting the result of the negotiations conducted by President Roosevelt, we cannot lose sight of the disturbing fact that the methods under which the territory was acquired were in defiance of law and treaty obligations toward a sister republic too weak to resist the ungenerous action of our government."

The Republican senate and house of representatives are excoriated for their "persistent and deliberate refusal to permit an investigation" of alleged frauds in the departments at Washington. As to the present administration it declares that President Roosevelt has been guilty of "repeated and unpardonable defecation to both branches of congress."

"We denounce him," it continues, "for flagrant encroachments upon the rightful powers and independence of congress, and, while amazed at the subservience of a Republican senate and a Republican house of representatives to his orders and held usurpation, we declare his autocratic invasion of their freedom deserves and should receive the indignant rebuke and condemnation of the people."

While the delegation to St. Louis was not instructed, except to vote as a unit, it is admitted that this course was followed at the request of Senator Gorman, the convention being plainly in the humor to instruct for him. When a delegate moved to so instruct Senator Gorman protested and the motion was withdrawn. The convention adopted a resolution commending the "boldness and valor with which our senator, Arthur P. Gorman, has signalized his return to his former field of his acknowledged leadership and distinguished public service."

The following delegates to the St. Louis convention were elected:

Delegates at large—Senator Arthur P. Gorman, ex-Governor John Walters Smith, State Treasurer Murray Vandiver and Congressman J. F. C. Talbott.

District delegates—Joshua W. Miles, Richard D. Hyson, Thomas H. Robinson, Frederick V. Kapf, John Hannibal, Frank A. Forst, John J. Malon, Francis E. Newell, Dr. George Wells, J. Frank Smith, Colonel Buchanan Schley and Arthur Peter.

Previous to adjournment Senator Gorman, in response to insistent calls, briefly addressed the convention, in which he said he was satisfied with the honors that had been conferred on him, and that "no selfish ambition, no local pride, no desire for personal favoritism should hamper us until we have redeemed the country and placed a Democrat in the presidential chair."

FROM BRYAN'S HOME

A Special Train Will Bear Parker Rooters to St. Louis.

Omaha, Neb., May 27.—Despite Colonel William Jennings Bryan's opposition to the candidacy of Judge Parker for the Democratic presidential nomination, sentiment in favor of it is steadily growing in Nebraska and will make itself felt at the St. Louis convention.

Preparations are making to run a handsome special train from Nebraska to St. Louis bearing several hundred Parker men. Plans for the trip are being perfected in Colonel Bryan's own city of Lincoln, and many members of the party will be neighbors of the free silver advocate. Colonel John C. Maher, of Lincoln, is back of the movement and is daily enlisting Parker recruits to accompany him to St. Louis. He says he is receiving more applications for berths on the train than it will be possible for take care of, and it may be necessary to run two trains. The train will leave Nebraska on the morning of July 5 and return on the 14th. The sleepers will be sidetracked at St. Louis and occupied by the party during their stay in St. Louis. A band will accompany the party, and Colonel Maher says the demonstration the Nebraskans will make in favor of Judge Parker will be one of the notable features of the convention.

CIRCUS

WAS BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER THURSDAY.

Every Appointment Was the Most Modern and the Verdict of Excellence Was Unanimous.

The thousands who witnessed the Barnum & Bailey circus performances Thursday had no cause to regret either the time or money expended. The whole show was perfection. Some of the numerous acts are seemingly beyond the limits of possibility, yet the actors, in a manner that approaches the miraculous, performed their feats of daring and skill.

Probably the greatest acts are those of Volo and Valiant. These bicycle acts have been well advertised and were carried out to the entire satisfaction of the immense audiences. The performances of the trained animals were excellent. The humorous stunts of the clowns were beyond what is usually expected of the circus fun maker.

The menagerie is without a doubt the finest zoological exhibition ever seen in Newark. The animals were not only rare but numerous. The collection of freaks, with which the name of Barnum has always been linked, certainly entitled it to the designation.

A particularly noticeable feature was the arrangement of the seats. Those who paid for reserved seats received reserved seats. These were comfortable chairs and were appreciated.

Every act performed in the big canvas was in some way a novelty, and in all cases the very acme of perfection. Most of them have never been seen before and next season other circuses will imitate them.

Mr. Whiting Allen, the chief press agent of the big show, with his courteous manner and engaging personality laid himself out to make the newspaper men who attended feel that they were welcome and honored guests of the circus management. In the afternoon he occupied a box with the Editor of the Advocate, and again in the evening the Advocate's box was Mr. Allen's headquarters, where his timely suggestions and never failing fund of interesting information and anecdotes concerning the personality of the performers, as well as the comparative merit of simultaneous acts, was a most pleasing diversion and was a great aid to the enjoyment of the performance.

It can be truthfully said that the Barnum & Bailey circus is the greatest amusement source in this line in the world, and is the criterion by which the merit of other exhibitions may be measured.

The letters of Miss Merkle, whose picture is printed above, and Miss Claussen, prove beyond question that thousands of cases of inflammation of the ovaries and womb are annually cured by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Gradual loss of strength and nerve force told me something was radically wrong with me. I had severe shooting pains through the pelvic organs, cramps and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor said that I had ovarian trouble and advised an operation. I strongly objected to this and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon found that my judgment was correct, and that all the good things said about this medicine were true, and day by day I felt less pain and increased appetite. The irritation soon healed, and the other complications disappeared and in eleven weeks I was once more strong and vigorous and perfectly well.

"My heartiest thanks are sent to you for the great good you have done me."—Sincerely yours, Miss MARGARET MERKLEY, 275 Third St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Miss Claussen Saved from a Surgical Operation.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It seems to me that all the endorsements that I have read of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound do not express one-half of the virtue the great medicine really possesses. I know that it saved my life and I want to give the credit where it belongs. I suffered with ovarian trouble for five years, had three operations and spent hundreds of dollars on doctors and medicines but this did not cure me after all.

"However, what doctors and medicines failed to do, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did. Twenty bottles restored me to perfect health and I feel sure that had I known of its value before, and let the doctors alone, I would have been spared all the pain and expense that fruitless operations cost me. If the women who are suffering, and the doctors do not help them, will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, they will not be disappointed with the results."

BASEBALL GOSSIP

The strong Mt. Vernon team plays in Newark today, Saturday and Sunday. All three of Newark's pitchers will be given a chance at Outcall's team.

Idlewild has eight games with Urbana in the next three weeks. Urbana plays at Newark June 3, 4, 5, 13 and 19, and Newark plays at Urbana June 12, 14 and 15.

John McCord, who shook the dust of Coshocton off his feet Monday, is perhaps the best pitcher who ever twirled for Coshocton. He had one besetting sin, and that was that he loved to look on the wine when it was red. Had it not been for this he would never have been with Coshocton.

Independent Circuit Scores.

At Charleston, W. Va.—Charleston, 7; Lancaster, 0.

Batteries—Willis and Munson; De- verty and Hunchie.

At Paulding—Paulding, 12; Piqua, 0.

Batteries—Vanada and Tuttle; Wil- son and Brennan.

The Urbana-Zanesville game was not played because of rain.

Kenyon-Denison Game.

A large force of men and teams are at work this morning clearing off the Y. M. C. A. Athletic Field, grading and rolling the diamond, erecting addi- tional bleachers and otherwise putting the ground in readiness for the big baseball game next Monday afternoon.

Decoration day, between Denison and Kenyon.

The management will be prepared to take care of the record-breaking crowd which no doubt will be present to witness the game.

As an additional attraction the New- ark High school team will play a game at 1:30 p. m., preliminary to the big game, with the North High school team of Columbus. One price, 25 cents, will admit to both games.

DIAMOND

WORTH $1,500 STOLEN FROM HEAD ANIMAL TRAINER

Of the Barnum & Bailey Circus on Thursday Afternoon—One of the Men in Custody.

William Conklin, head animal trainer with Barnum & Bailey's circus, was robbed of a diamond on Thursday afternoon, valued at $1,500. Two men took part in the robbery and one of them is now in the city prison.

Mr. Conklin had parked a street car at the corner of Eleventh and Church streets, preparatory to coming up town. Two men crowded against him and one snatched the diamond. Conklin grasped the men. Others thought the men were fighting and separated them. The man who had the diamond at once ran off. Conklin held on to the other and called to his assistance Officers Z. Label and Scott, who took him to the city prison. Here he gave the name as James Welsh, but declined to give his address.

At the hearing Friday morning Welsh pleaded not guilty and the case was continued until Saturday morning.

The robbery occurred at about half past four o'clock.

It is thought that the persons who caused Mr. Conklin to release his grasp on one of the thieves were members of the same gang.

HON. H. MASON,

MEMBER OF HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

Cured of a Dangerous Cough and Affected Lungs by Vinol. Letter Published by Request of Frank D. Hall.

To the editor of the Advocate. We have received a letter from the Hon. H. Mason of Jacksonville, Fla., which we hope you will publish for the benefit of everybody in this city. We also send you a photograph of Mr. Mason, which please print with the article if you have some. Yours very truly, Frank D. Hall.

The letter Mr. Hall refers to reads as follows:

"Dear Sir—A couple of months ago I contracted a severe cold, which it seemed impossible to cure. It settled on my lungs, causing a hard cough, which kept me awake nights, and soon weakened my system so that I was unable to attend to my duties. Vinol, that delicious tasting cod liver oil preparation, was recommended to me by a friend, who had used it with wonderful results. I purchased a couple of bottles of our local druggist, Mr. Conover, and began to take it. The second night after, I only had one coughing spell, and within a week I was not coughing once during the day. Naturally, my progress was fast after this, and my lungs healed rapidly, my strength returned and I gained in flesh and health. In fact, this wonderful preparation restored me to a perfect condition and I now feel better and younger than I have for years. I certainly think it is a wonderful remedy to cure coughs, colds, sore lungs, and build up a run-down system. (Signed) H. Mason."

We are glad to publish this letter for Mr. Hall, as it is not only interesting, but thoroughly proves that all his claims for the medicinal curative powers of his Vinol are fully substantiated by unquestionable testimony. We hope that many sick and ailing people in this city may be benefited by the information furnished.

FOLK SONGS

Mr. Walter Bentley Ball Will Give a Second Recital on Monday, May 30.

The second folk song recital by Walter Bentley Ball will be given Monday, May 30. Owing to the special meetings now in progress at the Baptist church, the recital will be given in the First Presbyterian church.

The program will consist of songs of the redman and plantation melodies and will be especially interesting, as comparatively few have ever heard Indian songs and melodies. The first recital by Mr. Ball was a notable success and his second effort is anticipated with great pleasure.

Admission is free and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

CHERRY VALE PARK

As we predicted, the sale of lots in The Taylor Land and Improvement Company's beautiful West End addition to Newark was a record breaker. Nothing like it was ever before known in Newark. A notice of the sale and what they were offering in three issues of our paper simply swamped them with buyers. They could not make the contracts for the lots as fast as they were sold. They had to stop advertising in order to get caught up with their contracting. They still have a great number of buyers, but only a few lots left for sale.

These will soon be sold, certainly within two or three days.

In an interview this morning, the President of the Taylor Land and Improvement Company, Mr. J. W. Taylor said: "We could not take care of the buyers for lots in our Cherry Vale addition, they came in such crowds that they just literally swamped us. We have not undertaken to make contracts and deeds, all as we go along, it has been out of the possibilities. We have been working night and day and yet it will take us a week or ten days to catch up. We have only a few lots left. Not one quarter enough to supply the demand. If we had the land and wanted to let the people of Newark know that we had such a proposition as this to offer them, I am sure we could sell ten times as many lots as we have to offer. Lots have already come to premium and will soon readily bring at least twice what we are selling them for now."

"When we purchased the land for Cherry Vale Park we also purchased eight acres to the north of it, extending over to Church street extension. We bought this latter tract as a permanent investment intending to hold it until such time as the Church street bridge was built and the rail line extended to the camp ground, and then offer it for sale as a high-priced residence allotment. There is nothing so fine about the city as this land for the highest priced residence lots. There has been very strong pressure brought to bear upon us however to let the people of Newark have it now, and a great many have been disappointed in not being able to get one or more of our large lots near Church street, and want us to give them a chance at this property. If we should conclude to put this on the market now we will be obliged to put it on at an advanced price over what we sold other lots for, as the land cost us considerably more and all land in this vicinity has advanced very materially in value since we opened Cherry Vale Park."

"We are to have a meeting of our company in Newark tonight however and determine the matter."

It is to be hoped that this enterprising company will give the people of Newark another chance similar to Cherry Vale Park. It will certainly be appreciated, as very many that intended to buy in Cherry Vale Park were not able to get in in time.

TETTER

Eczema, Psoriasis, Itching Piles

Thousands of people suffering from the terrible tortures of these diseases imagine they have some impurity in the blood, when, as a matter of fact, the blood has no more to do with this class of ailments than the eyebrows.

Skin Diseases

are wholly confined to the epidermis or external skin, and between the inner and external skins there are no blood vessels, hence the disease cannot come from the blood. Barrels of blood medicines can have no effect on these skin eruptions, for such medicines cannot reach the seat of the trouble. This class of diseases is caused by a germ or parasite which burrows into the external skin, there it lives, thrives and multiplies, and the inflammation they set up causes the awful itching and burning sensations.

The D. D. D. Remedy

as a liquid preparation applied externally—non-greasy—that penetrates the pores of the skin, destroys the germs or parasites and clears the disease entirely out of the skin, leaving a smooth, soft and healthy covering for the body.

"I have long been a sufferer from what the doctors called Eczema. I suffered from it terribly. It was all over my shoulders and arms, and from my knees to my feet. My arms and legs were red and swollen to twice their normal size. I was taken to the hospital and remained there for five months under the constant care and treatment of physicians. They gave me no relief. Somebody recommended the D. D. D. Remedy. I purchased a bottle and applied it. The second application took out the redness and stopped the itching and burning so I could sleep. The Eczema is entirely cured on my arms, and my legs are almost well.

I recommend the Remedy to any one suffering from Eczema. I am 78 years of age.

H. E. MEYER, Burlington, Iowa.

"For the last seven years I have had Eczema on my hands, and it seemed impossible to cure them. They would almost drive me frantic at times, and I tried every remedy I could hear of. Physicians were unable to give me any relief, and I had given up in despair when I was induced to try a bottle of D. D. D. The first application gave me relief and started my hands to healing, and after using one and a half bottles, I feel that I am entirely cured. I make this statement so that it may induce other sufferers to find relief in the D. D. D."

THE WEAPON OF DAVID

"Go in to see your boy to college, Jakob?"

"You bet."

"What're you goin' to do that for? He won't learn nothin' except how to play games. Them athletics takes all the students' time nowadays."

"There are wads of things in athletics. Seems to me I'd rather have my boy get strong than get Farnin', though they're both good. I knowed a feller once that got his start in the world from baseball practice. While he was in college he kept up his Farnin', but kept up the athletics too. When he got out into the world he found himself in a fix where the Farnin' wouldn't 'a' been no use without the athletics."

"This was the way of it:

"When I lived out in Nevada it was a mighty rough country. Gamblin' an' Farnin' was the two perfessions, gamblin' bein' considered the more respectable of the two. There was two or three lawyers, doctors an' sitch like in the place an' a few editors. Mike Gallagher was runnin' the Diamond Drill newspaper an' tryin' to establish it by a fearless course. He was always attackin' the worthless, an' this way he got the support of the thrifty. But he had to do a good deal of fightin' an' wouldn't have nobody in his employ that couldn't shoot. One day a young man just out of college came along and asked for a position.

"Young man," said Gallagher, "the positions are all vacant just now. The managing editor was killed last week, an' the fella' will be buried tomorrow. For the next few weeks there'll be pretty hot work for any one that takes hold on the paper, for we're bound to run the men that shot 'em out of the town. Can you shoot?"

"No," said the young feller. "I never had any practice."

"Well, then, I reckon I'll have to give the position to the next applicant."

"The young feller thought a spell, then he said: 'I can throw straight enough. I was pitcher for the university team and was counted the best pitcher the nine ever had.'

"The young man had the education, though the next applicant knew how to 'tan the hammer' and all quick shootin' tricks, but Farnin' was out of his line. Gallagher took the college man and set him to work at once.

"The next mornin' there was a sizzlin' article referin' to a certain man who had shot the local editor, goin' over his past history like a harrow over a field. Blackleg, vagabond, drunkard, murderer, was the terms used. Soon as the feller saw the article he went to the Drill office, climbed the stairs, and the first thing the new employee saw was the muzzle of a cocked revolver comin' through the door. The next thing was an arm and the next a man's body. Of course they was comin' mighty quick, but not too quick for the editor. He caught up an iron inkstand and, jest as the man's face showed within the door, let fly, takin' him plumb in the temple.

"Well, the next mornin' there was an obituary in the paper recountin' the circumstance and warnin' the man who had killed the managing editor that enough of his record was known at the Drill office to land him in jail. When the new editor met him on the street that afternoon the feller was a-comin' out of the Metropolitan gambler's saloon with two revolvers strapped to his hips. The editor had his pockets full of stones and, seein' his enemy reachin' for his gun, got out a two pounder rock and landed it in the middle of his forehead. The feller dropped like lead, but got off with concussion of the brain. When he got well he was warned by the committee to light out, and he lit.

"But the end hadn't come yet. The toughs didn't like the idea of a new feller comin' in with what they considered a barbarous way of fightin', so one of 'em—the meanest, low lived cuss in the territory—give out that he was goin' to down the editor with the old fashioned weapon—the revolver. The next day the newspaper man was walkin' along the street when he heard a sharp cry, 'Look out!' He had to do a pretty quick job of thinkin', which was this way: Not seein' an enemy in front, he concluded there was one behind and a bullet was comin' right off. He wheeled like a flash, takin' a stone from his pocket as he turned, got his eye on a man bringin' a revolver to bear on him and put a stone right ag'in the weapon, knockin' it twenty feet away. Before the feller could draw ag'in the editor sent another stone that broke his jaw. This ended the scrimmage.

"The fact that the editor set an example of goin' about unarmed—stones wasn't considered arms—had a fine effect on the community. The best citizens declared that carryin' of weapons wasn't necessary or civilized, and the committee posted a notice for all to disarm. Any man that was caught with weapons on him would be shot down in his tracks. The Diamond Drill's circulation increased, and as the town became safe and respectable traders came in and advertisements flooded the paper.

"That was the way the young graduate got his start in life, and I reckon that when a man has got his start the better his education the more fitted he is to occupy important positions. The youngster became part owner of the paper, and when the territory was admitted as a state he went to congress. The reason why I've told the story without bringin' in his name is that he's got his eye on a bigger thing still, and he don't like in these civilized days to have it brought up that he ever killed any one."

THOMAS BARBER JUDSON.

GREAT CROWDS

Greet Miss Alice Roosevelt Upon Her Arrival in St. Louis for a Week's Visit.

St. Louis, May 27.—A crowd of 5,500 persons, more than 1,000 of whom were women, jostled each other for a glimpse of Miss Alice Roosevelt, eldest daughter of the president of the United States, at Union station Thursday afternoon, when she arrived for a week's visit.

Four hundred women broke through the gates to the midway when the train arrived, bringing Miss Roosevelt, Miss Alice Warder, of Washington, and several maids. The women crowded about Miss Roosevelt at the train steps, delaying her advance in spite of the protection furnished by two policemen, who led the party.

Miss Irene Catlin, whose guest Miss Roosevelt is, and her brother, T. E. Catlin, had great difficulty in keeping near the party.

When the midway was passed Miss Roosevelt and her escorts broke into a rapid walk, while the crowd followed with shouts of "Hurrah for Miss Roosevelt," "There she is," until the carriage was reached at the entrance of the station.

So great was the rush at the carriage that the president's daughter was almost forced against the wheels before she could enter. As soon as she was seated the carriage was driven away rapidly.

The enthusiasm attending the reception was entirely unexpected by the police.

MISS ROOSEVELT "DID THE PIKE"

St. Louis, Mo., May 27.—Miss Alice Roosevelt did the pike Thursday night from one end to the other. She spent five hours there with Congressman Longworth, of Ohio, and a party of friends, including Miss Irene Catlin, Miss Roosevelt's hostess. The party watched the educated horse perform, and it spelled the name of the president's daughter, who smiled delightedly at the feat. The crowd was dense, because the news of the arrival of Miss Roosevelt was noised about early, and only the stalwart strength of the congressman prevented his charge from being indignantly hustled about in the crush.

STRENGTH

Of Giant and Tenderness of a Woman Made Whole the Cripples in Hoff's Hands.

Philadelphia, May 27.—With the strength of a giant, yet with the tenderness of a woman, Prof. Albert Hoff, the great orthopedic specialist of Berlin, manipulated into shape the shrunken and distorted limbs of three little patients in the clinic held Thursday in Jefferson hospital.

The first patient was Helen Tweed, 12 years old. She had been a sufferer from spasmodic paralysis of the forearm.

Prof. Hoff sat in a chair at the child's head, and the instruments were at his elbow. He described the case, its symptoms and the method he employs. The muscles of the forearm and tendons of the fingers were dissected and sewed into new relations. The work was of the most delicate nature.

Two children suffering with club feet were also successfully operated upon.

THANKS TO THE SURGEON.

St. Wayne, Ind., May 27.—Clinton Bricherton, of Montpelier, Ind., had his skull trophied in St. Joseph's hospital here Thursday. When three years old he was struck on the head by a gander's wing, which caused an adhesion of the brain with the skull. The trephining was successful and the patient regained consciousness.

SLAIN

Cape Haytien, May 27.—A serious battle was fought Thursday between the Dominican troops and the revolutionists at Esperanza, on the road from Monte Cristi to Santiago, near Mao. The revolutionists were victorious. Many were killed or wounded on both sides.

General Raoul Cabrera, Minister of War, who commanded the Government troops was killed and his body was taken to Navarette.

The Revolutionists are before Navarette, where another battle will be fought. The Government troops are waiting for reinforcements.

The United States cruiser Detroit and the gunboat Newport are off Monte Cristi.

THE COURTS

In the case of Robert W. Foster against Elizabeth T. Thompson and others, the plaintiffs, by their attorney, J. M. Swartz, have filed a petition in the common pleas court to partition lands.

Released on Habeas Corpus

Charles Ball, the Spencer street saloonkeeper, who was arrested Thursday on a warrant sworn to by his wife, who lives in Zanesville, charging neglect of duty and failure to support a minor child, was released Thursday afternoon on a writ of habeas corpus, issued by Probate Judge Irvine.

Bail was placed in the city prison, and was to have been taken to Zanesville Thursday night.

THE RAILWAYS

Engine 2409, built at the Schenectady Locomotive works for the Baltimore and Ohio, and which is to be exhibited at the World's Fair, is the largest locomotive in the world. It is estimated that it will be 150 per cent more powerful than any locomotive ever built. The design is similar to that of the Mallet compound. There are six pairs of driving wheels, three pairs are under the forward end of the boiler and the other three beneath the fire box. The drivers are small, being but 36 inches in diameter. The total weight of the locomotive and tender is 360,906 pounds.

Map Showing the Strategic Situation in the East

Accompanying map shows the location of those points in the east which are apt to figure in the Russo-Japanese campaign. Brief descriptions of most of these places follow:

AMUR RIVER.—Drains eastern Siberia from Lake Baikal to the north Pacific. Navigable for 200 miles.
ANJU.—A town in Korea, fifty miles from the Yalu and forty miles north of Pingyang.
ANTUNG.—A Chinese town near the mouth of the Yalu river.
BLONDE ISLANDS.—A group of rocky islets forty-five miles east of Dalny, now in possession of the Japanese.
CHANGTU.—A large town on the Manchurian railway.
CHANSAN.—Navigation limit of the Yalu river, fifty miles distant from its mouth.
CHEMULPO.—Chief treaty port of Korea, twenty-four miles distant from the capital, Seoul, with which it is connected by railway.

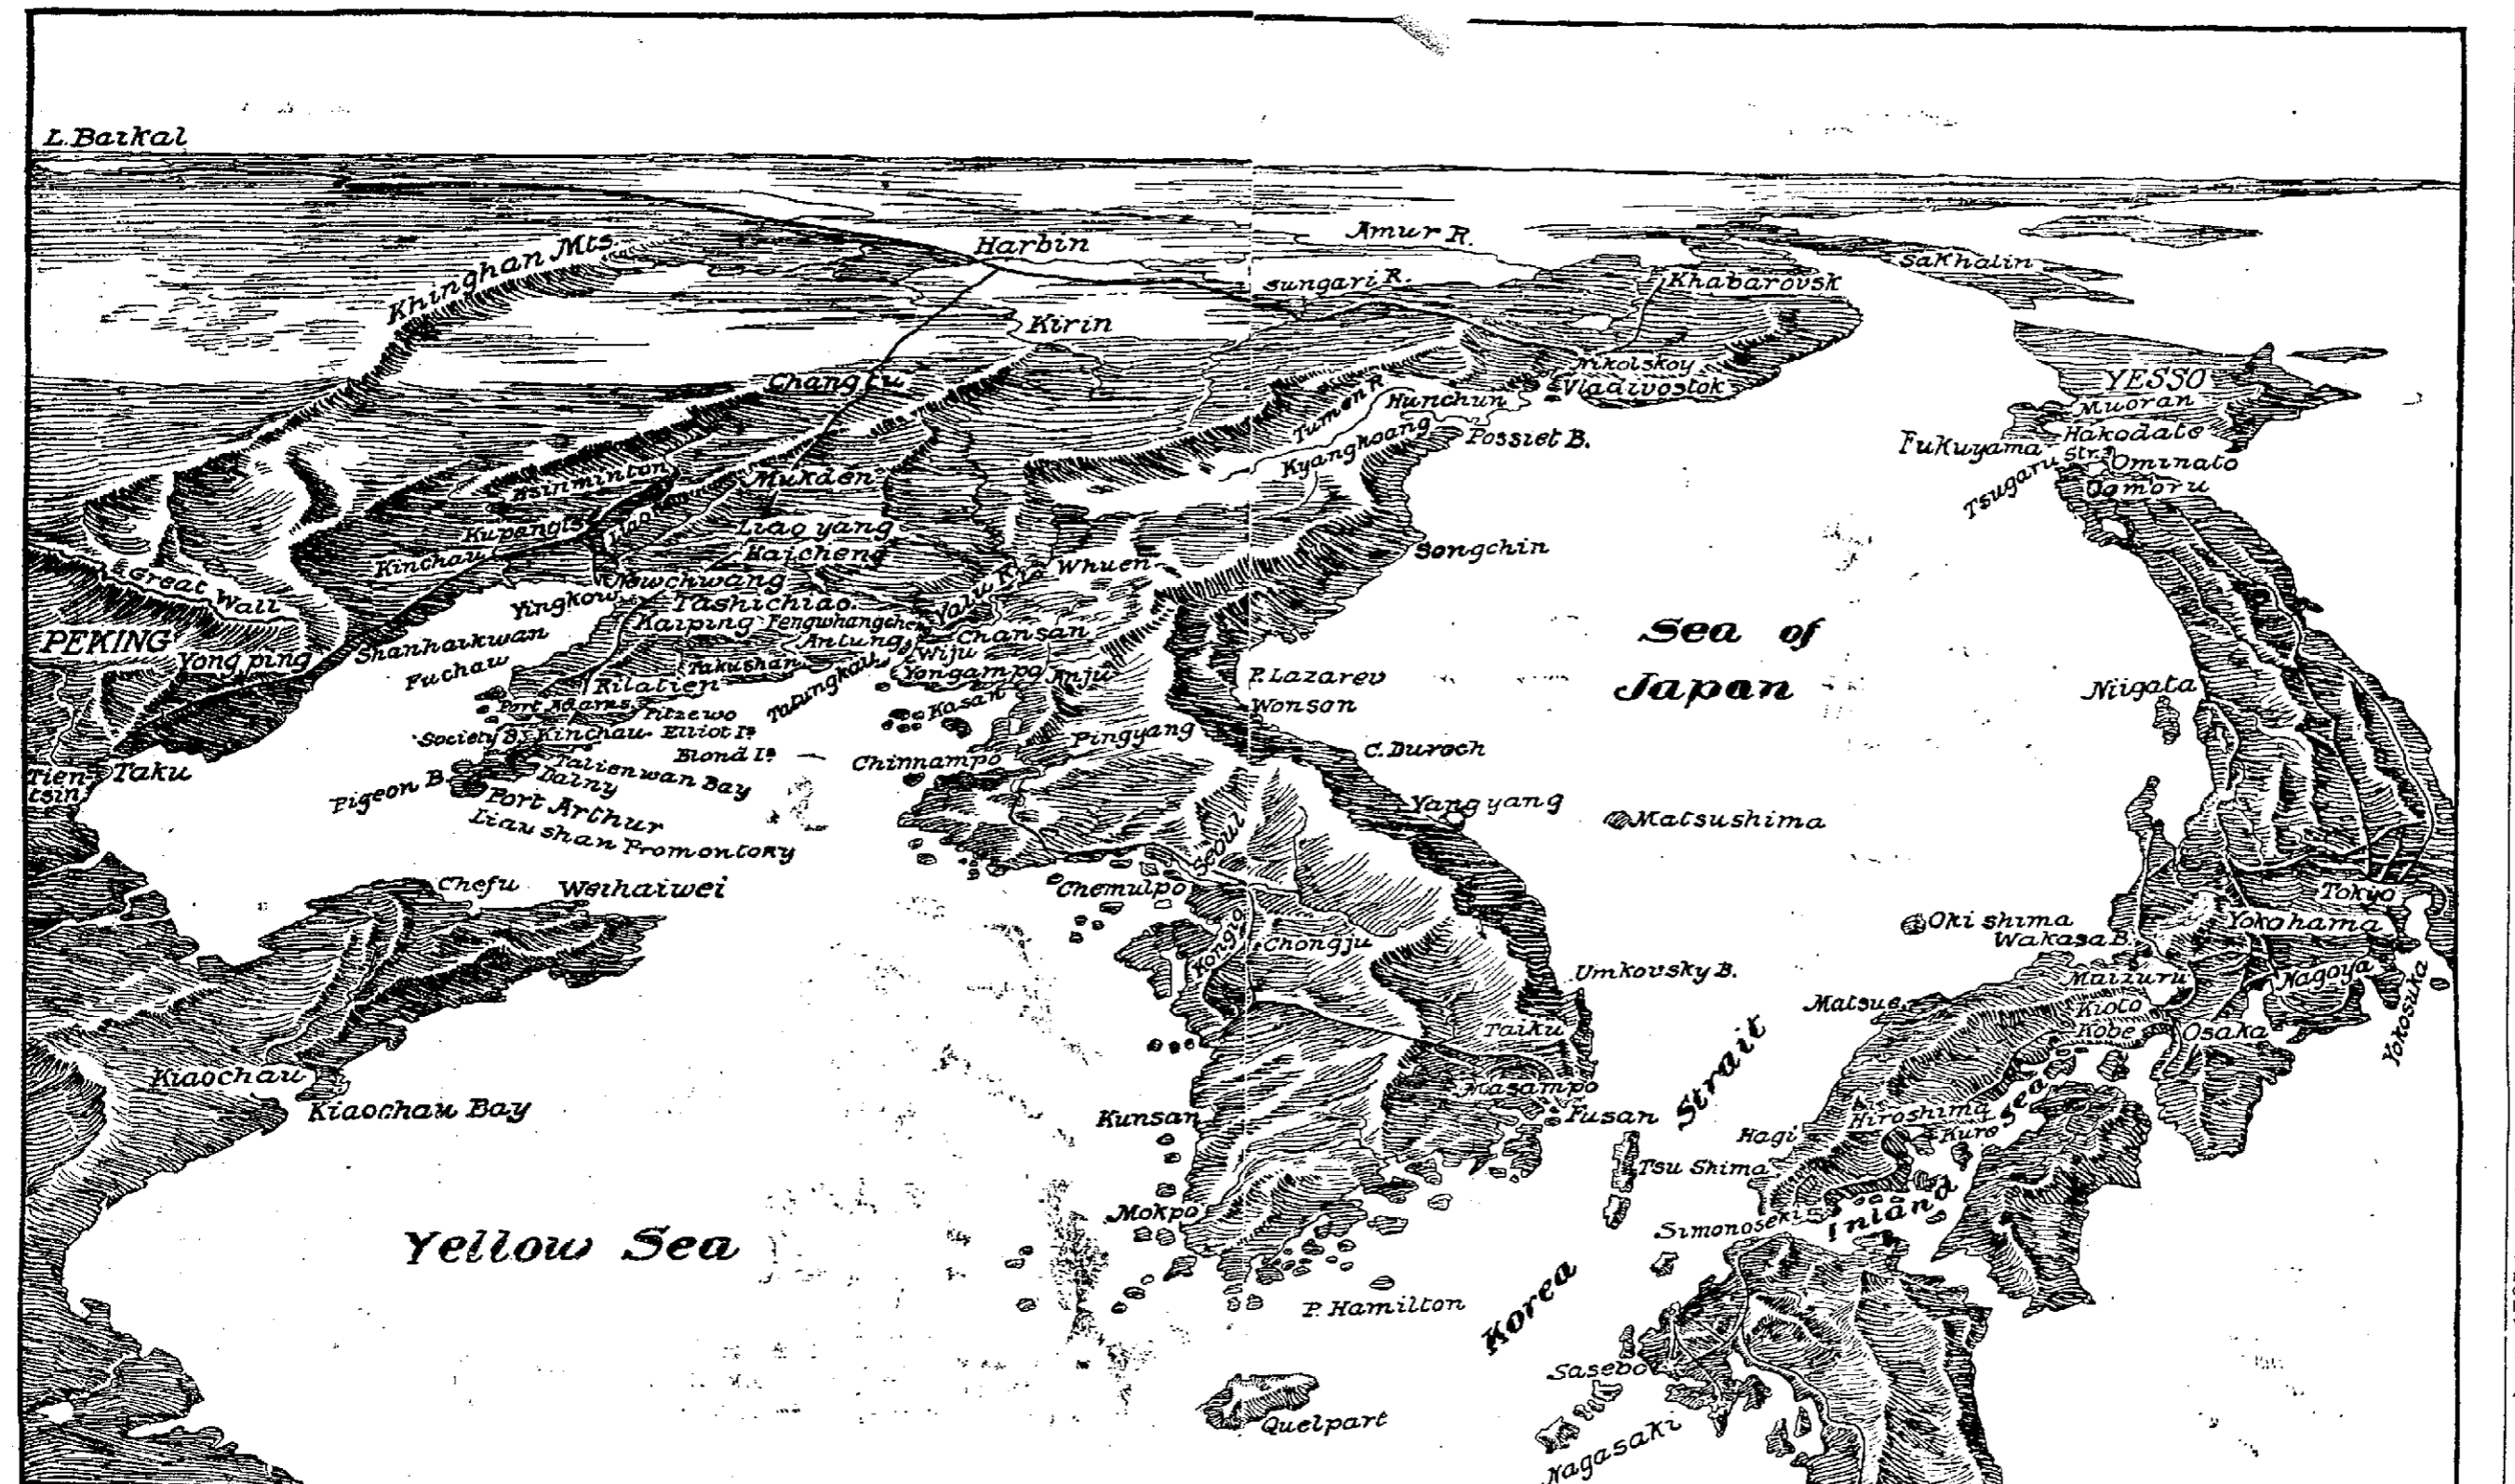

HAGI.—A Japanese port on the west coast of Nippon, facing Fusan.
HAICHENG.—A walled city about thirty miles east of Newchwang.
HAKODATE.—Japanese fortified naval station and dockyard in Yesso, on the north side of Tsugaru strait, nearly opposite Vladivostok on mainland, from which it is 40 miles distant.
HAIRBIN.—Important place on Trans-Siberian railway and junction of lines from Vladivostok and Port Arthur, respectively 50 and 55 miles distant.
Hsienmintun.—Northern terminus of Chinese Northern railway, distant thirty miles from Mukden.
HUNCHUN.—Fortified town in Manchuria, close to border of Russian Primorsk province.
INLAND SEA.—Between Nippon and Shikoku, with two entrances from the Pacific, both strongly fortified.
JAPAN.—An island empire extending for 2,000 miles along the eastern coast of Asia, consisting of five principal islands of Yesso, Nippon, Shikoku, Kiusiu and Formosa, with many hundreds of smaller ones.
KAICHOW.—Same as Kaiping.
KAIPING.—District city near the Liautong gulf, a short distance south of Newchwang. It is on the Manchurian railway.

KURE.—Near Hiroshima on the inland sea. The second largest naval arsenal in Japan, with docks and armor plate works.
KWANGTUNG.—The name given to the territory in the Liautong peninsula acquired by Russia in 1896.
KYONGHEUNG.—Russo-Korean trading mart on the Tumen river.
LAKE BAIKAL.—An immense fresh water lake covering an area of 12,500 miles on the line of the Transsiberian railway, in which it forms the only break. Distant 200 miles from Port Arthur.
LIAO RIVER.—Chief river of Manchuria, flowing into Liautong gulf. Navigable for 20 miles. Newchwang is situated near its mouth.
LIAUTONG PENINSULA.—or "Regent's Sword." The promontory forming the most southern portion of Manchuria, on which stand Port Arthur and Dalian.
LIAOYANG.—Walled town of 50,000 inhabitants on the Manchurian railway, about forty miles south of Mukden. The road to Antung on Yalu river starts from here.
LIATSHAN.—A mountain 1,500 feet high, at southwestern extremity of Liautong peninsula. It was off this point that the Japanese ships took their position when they bombarded Port Arthur on March 19 and 21.
MAIZURU.—Japanese naval arsenal and best deck accommodation in Japan. One of the ports of embarkation for troops during present campaign.

NEWCHWANG.—The treaty port for Manchuria, on Liautong river, thirty miles above the bar. Its ruins in Manchuria lie in Yinkow, or Yingtau, the town of Newchwang, properly so called, lying thirty miles inland. Newchwang stretches for three miles along right bank of Liao and is the terminus of Northern Chinese railway from Peking to Tientsin. Newchwang is 185 miles from Port Arthur by railway and is the starting point of two great highways, one to the north through Mukden and one to the Yalu river, via Fuchau, Pitsewo and Tachusan.
NIGATA.—Treaty port on west coast of Nippon.
NIKOLSK.—A town sixty-eight miles north of Vladivostok, where the railway lines from Harbin and Khabarovsk join.
OMINATO.—Refitting yards in north of Nippon.
OSUMORI.—Japan's naval station on south side of Tsugaru strait.
OSAKA.—The "Venice of Japan" and second city of the empire.
PINGYANG.—The third city of Korea, a large walled town on right bank of Tachong river, seventy miles from sea and about halfway between Seoul and Man-

PULATIEN.—The west end of northern boundary of Russian territory in Liautong peninsula.
QUEILART ISLAND.—Off south coast of Korea, forty miles long by seventeen wide. Anchorage at east end of island.
SAKHALIN.—Large island off mouth of Amur. The Russians and Japanese held it jointly from 1875 to 1875, when Russia gave the Kurile Islands to Japan in exchange for her share of the island. Now a Russian colony settlement.
SASEBO.—Japanese naval arsenal and government dock yard on island of Kiusiu. One of the ports of embarkation for troops during present war.
SEOUL.—Capital of Korea, two miles from the Han river. It lies in a wide valley between high mountains and is surrounded by a wall thirty feet high and fourteen miles in circumference. It is connected with Chemulpo by a railway twenty-four miles long. Population 200,000.
SHANSHAIKUAN.—Chinese garrison town on gulf of Pohai at the point where the great wall reaches sea. The railway from Tientsin to Newchwang passes through this place, which marks boundary between China and Manchuria.
SHIMONOSEKI.—Japanese fortified naval station in Nippon, distant 120 miles from the Korean coast.

TOKYO.—Capital of Japan. Population 1,500,000.
TSUGARU STRAIT.—Between Yesso and Nippon, thirteen miles wide at its eastern end.
TSUSHIMA.—Strongly fortified island belonging to Japan, situated in Korea strait, midway between Korea and Japan. It is thirty-seven miles long.
YEMEN RIVER.—River forming the eastern portion of frontier between Korea and Russian territory.
YESSO.—Port of garrison town of Hiroshima on the island sea.
YESSU RIVER.—Chief affluent of the Amur, forming frontier line between Manchuria and Russian province of Primorsk. A LAIYU STRAIT. —Russia's commercial support and chief naval station on the Pacific coast, close to coast of Trans-Siberian railway, 60 miles from Harbin and 500 from St. Petersburg. Magnificent harbor, completely landlocked by hills, exposed with forts, but rebound from December to April, and the channel has to be kept free by ice breakers. Distance to Port Arthur by sea 1,000 miles and to St. Petersburg 12,740 miles.
YOKOHAMA.—On north coast of Sagami peninsula, 115 miles from Port Arthur. Leased from China by Great Britain for so long a period as Russia remains at Port Arthur.

CHEFU.—A treaty port in north China and important coal station, distant ninety miles from Port Arthur.
CHINNAMPO.—Korean treaty port on Yellow sea on north side of the Taidong inlet. It is the port for Pingyang.
CHONGJU.—A town in northern Korea, where the first land engagement of the war was fought.
DALNY.—Russia's commercial seaport on Yellow sea, situated on east coast of Liautong peninsula in Victoria bay. Distance to Port Arthur about twenty-five miles. Chief terminus of the Transsiberian railway.

KUPANGTSE.—A junction on the Chinese Northern railway, where the lines from Newchwang and Hsienmintun meet.

government dock yard on west coast of Nippon.
MANCHURIA.—The three provinces of the Chinese empire lying north of the great wall. Area 233,000 miles, or double that of Japan. Ninety per cent of inhabitants are Chinese.
MASANPO.—Treaty port in southwest Korea, distant 150 miles from Nagasaki. Russia attempted to gain a foothold here in 1898.
MATSUE.—Refitting yards on west coast of Nippon.
MATSUMURA.—Island off east coast of Korea belonging to Japan.
MOKPO.—Treaty port in southwestern Korea, on the Yongsang river, seven miles from sea.
MORORAN.—Japanese fortified naval station in island of Yesso.
MUKDEN.—Capital of Manchuria and birthplace of dynasty. Distant 100 miles from Yingkow and 250 from Port Arthur. The town, which is the greatest fair market in the world, is surrounded by a high embowered wall three miles in circumference. Population 500,000.
NAGASAKI.—Japanese treaty port on island of Kiusiu. Great coal stores and churian frontier. The Japanese gained a great victory over the Chinese here in war of 1894.

PITSEWO.—Harbor on the east coast of Liautong peninsula, well protected, but shallow. It marks the east end of northern boundary of Russian territory.
PORT ADAMS.—An inlet eighteen miles in depth on west coast of Liautong peninsula, navigable for vessels drawing twenty feet.
PORT ARTHUR.—On Liautong peninsula, Russia's naval stronghold on the Yellow sea. Japan captured it during the war with China, but had to surrender it at the instance of Russia, Germany and France, who considered that its possession by Japan "would be detrimental to the lasting peace of the Orient." In 1898 Russia acquired it on a twenty-five years lease from China. Distant 590 miles from St. Petersburg by railway.
PORT HAMILTON.—Small island off south coast of Korea. Large, well sheltered harbor.
PORT LAZAREV.—Fine harbor in Broukhaya bay, on east coast of Korea.
POSSLET RAY.—South of Vladivostok and close to the Korean frontier.

SONGCHIN.—Treaty port on northeast coast of Korea.
SIWON.—Korean town twenty-five miles south of Seoul. The Seoul-Fusan railway had been laid as far south as this point when war broke out.
TAIKI.—A fortress at the mouth of the Taikang river, north of Fusan. The railway from Fusan to Seoul had been laid as far north as this place when hostilities occurred.
TAKI.—A fortress at the mouth of the Taikang river, north of Fusan. The railway from Fusan to Seoul had been laid as far north as this place when hostilities occurred.
TAKISHAN.—Chief port in Manchuria after Newchwang. Situated on the Taikang river, about twelve miles from sea and forty miles west of the Yalu.
TALINWANG RAY.—In Liautong peninsula, northeast of Port Arthur. It is six miles wide and six miles deep and has three inlets. The largest is Victoria bay, on southern side, where Dalny is situated.
TASHCHILIAV.—Near Newchwang and junction of the railways from Tientsin and Port Arthur. Russia has built large barracks here.
TATUNGKAO.—Port on Chinese bank of Yalu river which China has agreed to give to foreign trade. It is the great lumber market for Manchuria.

WILU.—Korean town at mouth of Yalu river, opposite Chinese town of Antung. The first brush between Russia and Japan took place near here.
YONSON (CHENSAN).—Korean treaty port in Broughton bay, on northeast coast. Connected with Seoul by telegraph.
YALU RIVER.—Boundary between Korea and Manchuria. Is only navigable for a short distance from its mouth.
YOKOHAMA.—Principal treaty port of Japan, with two large graving docks. Population 160,000.
YOKOSUKA.—Chief naval station in Japan, with dry dock and building yards. Guards the entrance to Tokyo bay. Headquarters of the Japanese navy.
YONGAMPIO.—Capacious harbor in north Korea, near the mouth of the Yalu, occupied by Russia before the war, but since taken by the Japanese.

A court in Berlin decided in favor of a wife suing for divorce on the strength of the fact that her husband wears a wig and that she did not know it at the time of the ceremony.

The Work of Landing an Army on a Foreign Shore

DURING the war with Russia the Japanese have shown a knowledge of the practical side of warfare that has surprised the world. Much of the success they have met with has been due to their mastery of details like those involved, for instance, in the landing of troops. The disembarkation of an army is an operation requiring a high degree of military and executive ability. The Japanese officers have learned this part of the business of warfare so well that when it became necessary recently to land a large body of men at Chemulpo, Korea, with the utmost dispatch the operation was effected rapidly and without confusion. The same ability in handling the movements of troops and the disposition of supplies has been shown in subsequent operations.

The Japanese, because of their careful attention to all the details involved, have been able to accomplish with seeming ease what are really Herculean feats. In the disembarkation of an army preparations must be made in advance for transferring men, horses, artillery, ammunition, rations, tents, hospital supplies, pack animals, etc., to the land without confusion and under strict rules of discipline so that nothing will be lost or stolen, every man from staff officer to humblest servant knowing his work and doing it.

The way in which troops are landed depends, of course, on the depth of the water at place of landing, wharf accommodations or lack of them and other local conditions. Where there are wharfs the operation is simplified. But very often these do not exist, and pontoon boats are utilized to get men and supplies ashore. Lumber, ground tackle, cordage and tools have to be brought into play for the work of removal. During the civil war when disembarkation was to be made on an open shore it was customary to provide in advance several canal barges, a number of pontoon boats of cordage, and a plentiful amount of cordage. Sometimes by lashing two of the canal barges together, but at a distance of some twelve feet apart, and by throwing over both of them a false or additional deck platform would be formed capable of holding forty to fifty horses or a six gun field battery. Such boats, drawing but about four feet of water, could be used where there was not much depth and also could be utilized to form what is called a wharftide, alongside of which the laden transports could come to discharge their cargoes of men, animals and supplies.

A pontoon bridge was sometimes constructed from this wharftide to the shore, over which men and animals could walk and artillery and supplies could be wheeled or carried ashore. However, the methods varied according to circumstances, and sometimes where the water near shore was of sufficient depth double canal boats were used for rafts to disembark horses and supplies.

The Japanese in disembarking troops at Chemulpo, for instance, had to contend with many unusual difficulties, for twice a day the tide rises and falls some thirty feet, and on either side of the narrow channel available for launches, lighters, etc., there are mud flats miles in extent. The disembarkation here had to be by lighters sculled by coolies or towed by small launches, and the distance from the anchorage where the transports lay to the landing jetty is two miles. Anticipating the existence of unusual difficulties, the Japanese brought with them steam launches, several hundred flat bottomed launches and six tank water boats rigged with hand pumps. After the landing of the first 2,500 men the army engineers went to work, commanded Korean junkies for use as pontoons, placed cleared gangways across and between them, forming a floor over all, and thus constructed bridges over which the work of disembarkation could proceed. This transport department of the Japanese army was able in a single week to land 100,000 tons of supplies, 20,000 men and 2,500 cavalry horses. Of course this was done without interruption from an enemy, but nevertheless it was a remarkable feat. When a landing of troops and supplies is made in the expectation of attack during its progress consideration must be given to conditions which will permit of the fire of the fleet clearing the country in front. Under the latter conditions the industry is first landed, and pushed sufficiently in advance to keep the enemy beyond cannon range of the landing place. After the country has been cleared of its line and the landing place is made for landing the batteries.

"Slingshot" horses, as an interesting part of a disembarkation, horses are landed from transports in various ways. When the deck of a vessel is low and there is a gangway way may be backed off into the water, and this is liable to strain the animals, but make him say about taking the water when he comes to it on a march. Generally the horse is lowered over the side of the vessel by "slingshot." This is a small boat in attendance to hook the fall and clear the sling and have the horse the right direction when he starts to swim to the shore. When the Japanese landed at Chemulpo the bottomed boats were brought alongside the transports, and the horses were raised in slings and lowered into them. When brought ashore the horses were made to jump three or four feet from the bottoms of the boats to the quay.

CLOSING NOTICE

We the undersigned have decided to close our feed store and grain house all day Monday, May 30, 1904, on account of Decoration day. William M. Peet, C. M. Root, Tenney & Morgan, Charles S. Brown, C. S. Kerr, William Bowers, Giuseppe Bros., Peter Buehler, S. G. Foose. 5-27-04

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Cuna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundance.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people, and is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market today.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Police Court

Harry Jennings was arrested Thursday morning by Officers Carroll and McCreary for working a "flim flam" game. He also had some questionable literature for sale. He was fined the costs in the case.

Messrs. Kimbley and Leneholt, both of Shawnee, were arrested by Officer Burke and Keckenhoff last night for being drunk and were fined $5 and $10.

HARRIS—DAGUE.

Mr. Edward Tulling Harris, son of Thomas L. Harris, of Granville, and Miss Sarah Dague, daughter of Mr. George Mont Dague, also of Granville, were married on Thursday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Newton Miller at his home on North Fifth street, and immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for a short wedding trip. On their return they will make their home in Columbus. They have the best wishes of all their friends.

RECORDS

BROKEN BY INTERURBAN CARS FRIDAY MORNING.

Four Flyers Carry U. C. T. Delegations From Dayton, Springfield and Columbus to Zanesville

A record-breaking trip from Columbus to Zanesville over the Columbus, Newark and Zanesville electric railroad was made Friday morning when four special cars went from the Columbus City to Zanesville in the hours.

All four of the cars were chartered by U. C. T. lodges for the purpose of attending the annual state convention of the United Commercial Travelers, which is in session in Zanesville. One of the cars came from Dayton, another from Springfield and two from Columbus. The route from Dayton was via the Dayton, Springfield and Union to Springfield; thence to Columbus by the Columbus, London and Springfield and to Zanesville over the Columbus, Newark and Zanesville lines.

The car containing the Champion City delegation went through Newark with hard flying and without flying. This car was brought from Columbus to Newark in one hour and five minutes and made the run to Zanesville from Newark in 56 minutes.

NO SHORTAGE

Could Be Found in Accounts of Toledo Collector Who Suicided—Body Still Here.

The body of J. H. Malcolm, the Toledo man who was in Newark as a collector for Collier's Weekly, and who suicided Wednesday morning by the morphine route, is still at the undertaking parlors of Bowers & Bradlee.

Mrs. Malcolm again telephoned to Governor C. F. Legge Friday morning. It seems that she is in rather poor circumstances and is unable to raise sufficient money to pay the shipping expenses. The remains will be held until Friday night and will probably be interred in Cedar Hill cemetery Saturday if the body is not sent for in the meantime.

J. F. McCauley, the auditor who is going over Malcolm's routes in Newark, stated Friday that he was unable to discover any shortage. It is his opinion that Malcolm had not worked for a week prior to his death and for this reason did not make a report.

Were we to shoot folk as it flies the undertakers would be too busy to get acquainted with their families.

BURGLARS

ENTERED RESIDENCE OF DR. A. T. SPEER THURSDAY NIGHT, Stole Several Dollars, Leaving Behind Valuable Jewelry.

A bold and successful burglary was perpetrated on Thursday night at the residence of Dr. A. T. Speer, 52 East Church street, this city. Some time during the latter part of the night, as the doctor and family covered when they awoke on Friday morning, burglars had entered the house by raising a dining room window and had ransacked the house from top to bottom. It so happened that Dr. Speer had risen unusually early Friday morning to go to Columbus with a number of other ladies as delegates to attend a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Episcopal church, in session in that city. Mrs. Speer went to the dresser in the process of her toilet and was astonished to find it open and its contents scattered about in confusion. A fine cameo pin, containing a portrait which Dr. Speer had made for her in Rome, while he was abroad, was gone. Several dollars that were in a handbag were also missing. Young Julian Speer's pantaloons were found in the upstairs hall with the pockets rifled of their contents. It was then discovered that the burglars had been in the room of Mr. Speer's oldest daughter, Miss Louise, and had taken a miniature bank safe containing several dollars. His other daughter, Miss Ruth, had for some reason the night before hung several valuable diamond rings on a nail in the kitchen and they were found intact. Dr. Speer's clothes, which were hanging in an adjoining room from his bedroom, were untouched. The family on entering the dining room found the cameo pin and other articles that were thought to have been stolen, piled up on the table, and only the money, amounting to a few dollars, was actually taken.

Big Interurban Business.

The interurban cars did a heavy business Thursday. All the cars coming to Newark were crowded. People commented on the excellent service given. The enormous crowds at the circus were carried away with a rapidity and lack of confusion that was surprising to those unacquainted with the general excellence of the Newark system.

The first exposition was in Paris in 1788; the first in London in 1851, and in America in New York, 1853. These were not international like the World's Fair. The first of these was in London in 1851.

SERVICES

In Memory of Dead Heroes Will Be Held at Granville, May 30.

Granville, O., May 27.—Memorial services will be held in Granville on Sunday evening, May 29 at 7 o'clock at the Presbyterian church, and the memorial sermon will be preached by Dr. C. L. Work. On Decoration Day, May 30, public exercises will be held in the Opera House at 1 o'clock with an address by General R. D. Brown of Zanesville, followed by an address by Dr. E. W. Hunt, president of Denison university. After the conclusion of the exercises at the Opera House the old comrades and children carrying flowers will march to the cemeteries where the graves of the soldier dead will be decorated. During the exercises at the Opera House and at the cemetery, business will be suspended in the village.

The Alumni dinner on Commencement Day will be given by the ladies of the Granville Centennial Association. Because of the restricted seating capacity, only a few can be provided for in addition to alumni, trustees, faculty, former students who did not graduate, and those who are attending commencement as special guests of the university.

Beginning on next Tuesday and continuing until Friday, there will be an exhibition at the school house a representative display of work done in drawing by the pupils of all grades in the public schools. This exhibition promises to be of unusual interest this year. Patrons of the school and all who are interested in this department of public instruction, are cordially invited to call at the school building and inspect the work on exhibition.

On Wednesday evening the members of the Sigma Chi fraternity were delightfully entertained a few friends at dinner.

The members of the Phi Gamma Delta entertained several young lady friends at dinner on Wednesday evening.

The Phi Gamma Delta fraternity will entertain a number of friends with a reception on Saturday evening, June 1.

The Smith Gas and Oil company has located another well on the Carl Price farm near Union Station. They will start to drilling immediately.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a "Market Day" at the Presbyterian church at 5 o'clock Saturday evening.

A number of the members of the Sigma Chi Fraternity of Denison University left this morning for Delaware to attend the convention of the Third Province of the Sigma Chi fraternity. Among those who went over were Messrs. A. M. Colby, R. W. Luce, J. G. Cross, C. B. Nichols, Tom Shepard and R. D. Sprout.
